In March 2010, the international methane community is gathering in New Delhi, India to:

- Showcase methane mitigation projects and technologies
- Learn about the latest project opportunities, technologies, and services
- Meet with potential project partners and financiers
- Explore key technical, financial, and policy issues
- Interact with high-level government agencies from 30 countries

The first Partnership Expo was held in 2007 in Beijing, China, and included more than 750 participants from 34 countries, featured 91 methane capture and use project opportunities, and attracted numerous exhibitors.

Why Attend?

The Methane to Markets Partnership Expo is the world's premier methane event. The Expo's comprehensive technical and policy program, trade show, and networking opportunities will bring you up to speed on the latest projects, technologies, and development opportunities in the field of methane recovery and use from around the world.

The Expo will also feature an International Methane Capture Marketplace showcasing international project opportunities, many with completed pre-feasibility studies in search of financing, technology, and project development partners.

Who Should Attend?

- Project Developers and Financiers
- Policymakers and Government Representatives
- Manufacturers and Vendors
- Industry Representatives
- Site Managers

Become One of Our Prestigious Sponsors

It is not too late to become an Expo sponsor. Whether you sponsor a specific event or become a sponsor at a specific level, you will enjoy these benefits:

- A highly visible presence at the largest international gathering dedicated to methane recovery and use project development.
- Opportunities to market your products and services to customers from all over the world.
- Full access to the Expo's comprehensive program, including all training sessions, technical meetings, and panel presentations.
- FREE exhibition space plus a host of other benefits (e.g., recognition on Expo materials).

Details on types or levels of sponsorship and instructions on how to submit a sponsorship application are available on the Expo Web site (click on "Sponsorship and Exhibition Opportunities").

Exhibit at the Expo

Showcase your technology or service by exhibiting at the Expo. Join equipment manufacturers, technology providers, vendors, project development firms, financing organizations, and many others in the enclosed exhibition areas on the luxurious Taj Palace lawns. The exhibition areas will be prime networking space for nearly one thousand attendees during registration, special receptions, luncheons, and throughout the second and third days of the Expo.

Next Steps for Presenters

Thank you to all of the Partners and Project Network members that submitted presentation abstracts for potential inclusion in the Expo's technical and policy session program. Abstract topics included methane mitigation from agricultural sources, coal mines, landfills, and oil and natural gas systems, as well as cross-cutting issues such as financing, emission inventories, and policy or regulatory frameworks.

Abstracts are currently being reviewed by the Methane to Markets Administrative Support Group (ASG) and the Sector Subcommittees. Applicants will receive notification of acceptance or denial by 1 December 2009. Selected abstracts will be developed into presentations for delivery during the Expo. Final electronic presentations (i.e., PowerPoint files) will be due to the ASG by 15 January 2010.

The Methane to Markets Subcommittees Want to Hear from You

Help plan the future of Methane to Markets by participating in the working meetings of the sector subcommittees on Friday, 5 March. Add your perspective and insight to the discussions on how the Partnership can effectively promote methane projects in specific countries and around the world.

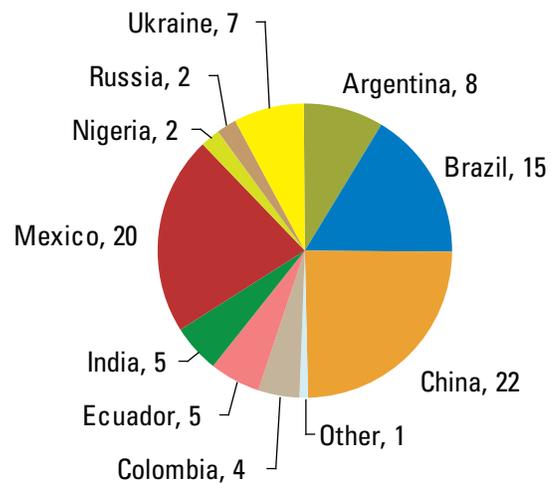

International Methane Capture Marketplace

One of the most significant aspects of the Expo will be the International Methane Capture Marketplace, at which project developers and other parties can highlight potential projects, many with pre-feasibility studies or preliminary assessments completed, in need of funding and/or technical assistance to move forward.

If you have a project that needs financing and/or technology, please download a sector-specific template from the Expo Web site (click on “Call for Projects”).

Project templates are due by 15 November 2009.
